

White Allen Plans Energy Generating Turbine

White Allen Honda's plans for a new Honda Store in downtown Dayton will include a landmark vertical-axis wind turbine. The turbine will generate power for parking and sales lots surrounding the new building near the intersection of I-75 and North Main Street. The dealership's new construction will also feature green materials and energy-efficient systems. A Dayton-based automotive dealer since 1935, White Allen recently remodeled its Chevrolet showroom and announced in early 2013 that it will dramatically enhance its North Main Street properties with approximately $10 million in improvements. The new facility is one of the few urban Honda dealerships in development in the country.
